NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

TWO CONGRESSMEN ENGAGE IN A DISGRACEFUL QUARREL.

They Start for the Basement to Fight It Out, but are Prevented From Going by Friends, but Finally Come to Blow-bore Charge Against a Senator.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The windy difficulty between Representatives Cobb, of Indiana, and Laird, of Nebraska, on the floor of the house of representatives, a couple of weeks ago, in regard to some land entries made by the latter, culminated in a sanguine encounter near the southwest entrance to the floor of the house, shortly after 1 o'clock.

It appears that Mr. Cobb and Laird were engaged in a dispute in which the former accused the latter of being a prefect, and that they agreed to go down into the basement of the capitol and fight it out.

Some one overheard the arrangement, went at once to Mr. Payson, of Illinois, who is a member of the committee on public lands, of which Mr. Cobb is chairman, and overheard the members as they were going stairs to the basement. He accompanied them to the entrance, and, succeeded in getting them to desist.

The men returned in a step and when they arrived at the entrance to the corridor, running east and west, and occupying the south side of the floor of the house, they stopped and the two quarreling members exchanged a number of blows.

Mr. Cobb was the first to strike, and overcame the members.

“Well,” said Laird, angrily, “you are a l—d old liar anyway.”

“And you,” said Cobb, “you are a perfesser, and I can prove it.”

Mr. Payson stood between the men at the entrance, holding a flat iron and with the precision of a ship's captain, Mr. Laird's left hand went over Mr. Payson's shoulder at Mr. Cobb. It was a terrific blow, but the distance was so great that it only touched Mr. Cobb lightly on the shoulder. His right hand struck Mr. Laird's head, and he fell to the floor, having received a number of blows to the head and shoulders, and was removed to his room. Mr. Cobb and Mr. Payson were removed to his room.

He was a strong man, however, and soon recovered.

He is fifty-eight years old.

Both men are courageous, and both have manifested on other occasions a desire and an ability to defend themselves against personal attacks.

It is believed the matter will be brought before the house for trial, yet most of the members may no rule was violated, because the trouble occurred outside of the hall of the house.

Summarily Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Acting Secretary of War has dismissed the chief of the division and two clerks in his office for creditable conduct in connection with examinations for promotion. MARYSVILLE'S chances for a public building have "gone glimmering." The veto of the appropriations for the Dayton and Zanesville, Ohio, buildings settled it. We didn't need it, now.

ABOUT $30,000,000 worth of tin is annually imported into this country, but this will cease when the Black Hills in mines are developed. They cover an area of 700 square miles.

DAN PERINNE was one of the first Sheriffs to settle up his accounts for taxes last year. He has been prudent, efficient and one of the best officials the county ever had. He deserves another term, and will get it by a handsome majority. Let his friends see how large they can make it.

The Superior Court Convention at Lexington yesterday to nominate a Democratic candidate for Judge in this district, was a regular love-feast. Everything was to use a new phrase, "monotonously harmonious." Judge J. Q. Ward had no opposition at all and was nominated by acclamation. He will hardly be opposed in August, as the district is reliably Democratic. He has made a good Judge and deserved the endorsement tendered him. Hon. G. S. Wall, candidate for Congress and Dr. John T. Fleming were among the delegates from this county. The convention was held in the new court-house, which was profusely decorated for the occasion with flowers and tropical plants. Judge Wall speaks in very flattering terms of the courteous treatment shown the delegates by the people of Lexington.

If the soldiers at Morehead could draw up both "factories" in a row and shoot the last one of them they would become public benefactors. The soldiers have been here, in which a few brutal desperades have done Kentucky. One has only to travel through North and East to be humiliated at the reputation the State has acquired. It is safe to say our population would be doubled if larger and more numerous "factories" and depots, but for the numerous "factories" and depots that fill the disparties—Louisville Post.

Have patience! The "mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine." It's a long lane that has no turning. The injury to the State has been great, but the desperados are awaiting the fate they deserve. A. M. Bowling is in the penitentiary, twenty-one years, and Jeff, his brother, is under sentence of death. It will come Tolliver's turn, and Humphries' and Logan's before long. Mark that!

The Medical Use of Eggs.

For burns and scalds there is nothing more soothing than the white of an egg, which may be poured over the wound. It is softer, as a varnish for a burn, than calloidin, and being always on hand, can be applied immediately. It is also more cooling than the white of an cotton, which is frequently used in the early application to allay the smarting pain. It is the contact with the air which gives the extreme discomfort experienced from ordinary accidents of this kind, and anything which excludes air and prevents inflammation is the best thing to be applied.

The egg is also considered one of the very best remedies for dysentery. Beaten up lightly, with or without sugar, and swallowed at a gulp, it tends by its emollient properties to the reduction of the stomach and intestines, and by giving a transient coating for the organs enables nature to assume her beautiful way over the diseased body. Two, or at the most, three eggs per day would be all that would be required. The patient, and since the egg is not merely a medicine, but food as well, the lighter the diet otherwise, and the quieter the patient is kept, the more certain a rapid result is the recovery.

Eastern Kentucky.

Mr. John R. Proctor, State Geologist, is credited with saying: "I have just returned from the immense coal fields of Powell, Wolfe, Breathitt and Lee Counties. These same fields of coal which you see here are the backbone of Kentucky and the coal I ever saw. Not only are these counties rich in coal, but they are continually increasing in an agricultural yield. The corn, oats and meadows are in fine condition. In Breathitt County I found the coal seam, I noticed the people are orderly and attentive to business. Jackson, the county seat, laid the foundation of a large academy, and established a circulating library of 2,000 volumes. There are no better people to be found in the State than those in Breathitt and Lee County. I think if the newspapers of Kentucky would devote as much time to calling attention to the resources and evidences of thrift and general prosperity as they do to lawlessness, they would accomplish a vast more good to the State."

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

A JURY IS FINALLY SECURED TO TRY THE HAYMARKET RIOTERS.

The Eight Men Take Their Seat in Judge Gary's Court to Answer for the Massacres of May 4—They Are Composed and Retray no Unasances—Adjournment.

CHICAGO, July 17.—After many weeks after interminable delay spent in exhausting every device for delay, employed by crafty lawyers, the trial of the Anarchists is to begin in earnest. This morning the eight men who are to stand trial in the Haymarket massacre were taken into the court of Judge Gary's court. They are composed; their manner betoken no sense of uneasiness; apparently they are careless of the past, and indifferent as to the future. Without the room is congested a large crowd, victims to a curiously they are unable to gratify. Down stairs is another crowd, and still another, and a larger one is congested in front of the entrance to the criminal court building.

They are with anxious stare the windows of Judge Gary's court, in which the opening scene is a great drama, the closing one of which may land eight men over the death trap, is being portrayed. Every detail in a matter of such supreme importance is of the privileged few who find access to the court room, but even these favored ones met with disappointment at the very outset.

Another delay was asked for. This time the court adjourned until 10 o'clock. Mr. Grinnell told Judge Gary that he was reluctantly compelled to request an adjournment until 10 o'clock. He said he had a good reason for asking this. He did not want to say what the reason was, but it was of great importance to the case. Then his attorney, Mr. Walker, whispered into his ear, and Mr. Grinnell said an adjournment until 10 o'clock would do.

Mr. Foster inquired what was the reason. Mr. Grinnell said he did not want to declare it publicly, as the lawyer he would tell him privately. He did so, and the desired adjournment was allowed.

The reason for the adjournment is given in a rumor to the effect that the state has met with some trouble on account of its witnesses. The reporters all agree that little honest-hove-dow have committed irreparable damage to vines. Waterville, which is known as the Kent of America, will yield less than the crop of last year.

Some of the vines have their last year's crop still on hand, and taking under consideration the poor outlook for this year they will hold for higher prices. A grower in North Brookfield, Madison county, who had seventy acres of hops, has had them entirely ruined by the blight. He has offered to pay $1,000 per acre for the vines.

It is the contact with the air which gives the extreme discomfort experienced from ordinary accidents of this kind, and anything which excludes air and prevents inflammation is the best thing to be applied.

Charged With Robbing His Own Bank.

LIMA, O., July 17.—The project to remove the body of Fero Maronelli, the Italian patriot, who died in this city forty years ago, to his native town in Italy, is likely to fail by Italian red tape.

A letter was sent to the office of the Italian Consul, Genoa, Italy, yesterday, stating that before the patriot's remains could be permitted to enter the Italian kingdom, an official certificate that no contagious disease prevailed in this city. August, 1867, paid to have the remains removed to Italy.

Charged With Robbing His Own Bank.

LIMA, O., July 17.—The marshal of Bluffton, Wood county, came here and arrested O. Warner Clark, one of the depositors on his own bank. The charge was brought by Warner Clark, one of the depositors. On the 26th of last April, the Exchange bank at Burton, of which Langen was proprietor, was broken into, the safe cracked and about $10,000 in money and other valuables taken. Since then the feeling against Langen has been very bitter and he came to this city, where he was arrested. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Southern Illinois Prohibitionists.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 17.—The Prohibitionists of Southern Maryland are making more noise than ever to elect county and other officers. A newspaper entitled the Southern Illinois Prohibition Battle Axe has been started at Odell. Full county tickets have been nominated, and a convention will soon be called to nominate a delegate for congress. Mr. E. D. Miller of the Battle Axe, will likely be nominated. A full county ticket has been put in the field here, and meetings are being held all over the county.

Oho's Oil Field.

LIMA, O., July 17.—The May Wildcat, five miles east of this city, was drilled in and a big flow of oil and a good strike of oil was made. No wildcat has been drilled since the last wildcat on the May Wildcat, two days after.

DISHONEST DEALERS.

HOW UNSUSPECTING HOUSEWIVES ARE OFTEN SWINDLED.

Short Measures and Their Ingenious Construction—False and Hinged Buttons—Tricks That Almost Defy Detection—The Schemes of Foul Peddlers.

The season is approaching when economical peddlers begin to lay in front for preserving purposes. Frequently has occurred to many how the peddler could pin the measure so high and yet when he had gone the purchase would pan out only that much greater to the galore of all trade. Such measures are rampant throughout the country as far as tricks are concerned. Such swindling is, of course, in a pretty way, but when the extent of their sales is taken into account, the amount of their ill-gotten gains is enormous.

Such swindling is, of course, in a pretty way, but when the extent of their sales is taken into account, the amount of their ill-gotten gains is enormous.

To many a hoodwinked housewife no doubt, the seeming paradox has been an almost palpable fact, that the honest or those behind the curtain never could be swindled.

The measure must be short, certainly; but the peddler so arrange it as to deceive the law officers and defy the punishment of the highest degree.

It is the frequent boast of these dealers that they buy at wholesale, and yet are anxious to sell at the same rate. This is true. Of course, their profits must come in somewhere.

To many a hoodwinked housewife no doubt, the seeming paradox has been an almost palpable fact, that the honest or those behind the curtain never could be swindled.

The "city swells" has at his disposal what he terms his "armory." Here are stored the numerous false measures he has confiscated during his term of office. They are of all sizes and shapes, and it is interesting to see how ingenuity dishonestly measures some people.

ALL SORTS OF FALSE MEASURES.

The "city swells" has at his disposal what he terms his "armory." Here are stored the numerous false measures he has confiscated during his term of office. They are of all sizes and shapes, and it is interesting to see how ingenuity dishonestly measures some people.

In the inspection a rule is used which tests to an infinitesimal amount the contents of the measure.

These are continually on the watch. The dealer never knows when his store will be entered or his wagon stopped. The law provides a set of all inspections, and of course, the more skillful he gets, the greater his compensation.

The false bottom is a familiar trick, and old as the hills. It has never gone out of fashion, however, and is as successful as when it was first invented. It is used for "short-doctoring" a measure. Sometimes an other bottom is soldered in after it has been tested and sealed. Then in other cases a piece of wood is placed in the bottom as if it were a false bottom, and the real bottom is sold.

The most ingenious plan, however, is to cover the bottom with cement, say an inch in depth. This hardens and so changes the color of the sides. It is often too difficult to detect, and once discovered, the measure is perfectly correct, and bears the official stamp of its truth.

OTHER WAY OF CREATING.

Another way is to take the measure and beat down an inch or so the hoop or iron band that girds the top. The portion remaining above is carelessly cut away, and it is only when tested by the rule that the dealer is detected.

Probably the easiest way to detect this trick is to hang the bottom. It is so made that the two portions will open inwardly and close immediately when the measure is taken up. It is used principally in measuring flour and powdered sugar.

The dealer sizes carefully places it as an apple or potato, the bottom is forced in, and, of course, considerate of the space is taken up.

Again, every one has noticed how hat-takers are most of the measures made by street peddlers. It is naturally thought that they have been accidentally knocked out of shape while being tossed about. In most cases, however, it is from deliberate manipulation, for the oblong is bent.

A favorite scheme, particularly in the country, is to crush a quantity of the fruit on the bottom. It adheres to the surface, and the portion of the fruit of the required size is cut off, while the dealer apparently has acted in the fairest possible manner. Another way is frequently practiced when the sides of the wagon are high. The measure is held in the hands, and the contents are packed out and taken in a portion falls in the bed of the wagon. Such are a few of the schemes practiced by the dishonest. Reputable dealers soon to descend to swindling tricks, and will not risk their reputations to gain temporary profit—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LABOR AND THE SOLDIER.

Mr. Powerfully Addresses the Green Glass Bottles Blowers' Association.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 17.—Mr. Powerfully, a laborer, has been addressing the Green Glass Bottles Blowers' Association, here yesterday, referring bitterly to the presence in town of the Fifth Maryland regiment and to the honor paid such military organizations. No organization of workers demanded their rights should be denied, with such derision and disregard. The soldier class stood as a model to labor and a barrier between labor and capital.

He added that the Knights of Labor, who compose two-thirds of the immigrants of each state, will not tolerate when the power of the rich is used to force them to work.

Let the men who are in the banks and in the railroads, the men who oppose labor, fill up the ranks. Then when the two sides are arrayed against each other, we will see who will win, and who will go to war cowardly to do it.

Mr. Powerfully made a speech in favor of the Knights of Labor, and the proposition was carried.

WINFIELD BUCKLER, Esq., who was sent to the asylum from Paris a few weeks ago, is reported to be dead. It is thought he will not survive much longer. The authorities at the asylum say his case is one of worst that ever came under their notice. He is kept confined in a padded room, so that he cannot injure himself in his mad ravings. One is allowed to see him, as he raves all the time. His case is certainly one of the saddest on record.

PURSUANT to announcement, Mr. Richard R. Waters, of Newport, Ky., lectured at the court house last night upon the “Mistakes of Ingersoll.” The speaker was introduced to the audience by Mr. C. L. Salles, and for nearly an hour spoke in a highly entertaining manner. His elaborate address evinced careful preparation and showed him to be a scholar and an orator of uncommon ability. The lecturer handles Col. Ingersoll's familiar weapon, that of ridicule, with appropriate ease and telling effect. There were numerous fine rhetorical passages delivered in as chaste, beautiful and classic language as were ever Grecian or Roman story told. The lecture was a great intellectual treat, and will be long remembered by those who heard it.

The “Poor-Widowacket” again.

The “poor-widow racket” was worked successfully, again on a couple of fellows at Cincinnati, the other day. People will, it seems, be warned by the fate of others. The recent experience of one of our prominent liver men will probably keep Mayville men on their guard, but it will do no harm to copy this latest scheme, that our readers may keep themselves posted. George F. Nugent and James Farrell are the parties who were victimized in this time. They were in Cincinnati and ought to have known better. The Post says of the “scheme”: “Farrell had noticed an advertisement in the Enquirer that a widow desired to entrust her baronche horse with some one who could have the use of it for care and feed. He called at 323 Walnut street, as per advertisement, and found the widow there. She was directed to a stable in the rear, however, where a colored man showed him the horse. To all appearance it was a sound animal. The colored man stated that the lady had engaged her mind about the horse, and wanted to sell it. On examination, however, it was found the horse was all right, not eight years old, and that he had driven and cared for him for several years. Farrell then upon purchased, giving Nugent's check for the amount. The neareen soon after returned to the widow, who had been taken to a doctor in a decidedly masculine hand. The purchaser took the horse to the Fifth Street hotel, where several traders recognized it as belonging to M. M. Marks, and said it was over twenty years old. Next day the animal proved to be worthless. On calling at the stable, Marks informed him his check had endorsed M. M. Marks. Going to the stable, five other horses were found, ready to be sprung on as many other victims. Farrell reported the matter to Colonels Detach, who detailed Deputys to look into the matter. It was impossible to make a satisfactory explanation, was looked up on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. The business is carried on in the alley next the one which was raided a few weeks since for the same trick.

THE Kentucky Homoeopathic Medical Society was organized at Lexington Wednesday. Nearly every section of the State was represented. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Welsh, Nichollsburg; Obstetrics—Dr. T. H. Hudson, Frankfort; Gynecology—Dr. W. M. Daugherty, Corinth; Diseases of Children—Dr. H. W. Bewley, Lexington.

Drs. S. M. Worthington and C. S. Holton and H. C. Keeler were former residents of this country.

Attempted shooting.

Joseph Hall was arrested this morning for attempting to shoot several parties near Rectoryville last evening. The prisoner lives in that vicinity and from Deputy Marshal Dawson, who made the arrest, we learn the following: Hall and a fellow named Bradley have been courting the same young lady for some time past. Bradley was more successful in his suit. Last evening he met his rival, Hall, who drew a pistol, thrust it in his face and attempted to shoot him. Bradley warded off the shot by striking Hall's hand, the ball passing through his hat. Hall afterwards met the young lady in question and two of her companions, and frightened them terribly by shooting several shots at them. He then came to this city, and was found by Dawson at a house in Smoky Hollow. When placed under arrest, two pistols were found on his person. He resisted the officer and attempted to grab a pistol out of his hand, but Mr. Dawson was too much for him. He was handcuffed and turned over to Constable John W. Holliday, who took him back to Rectoryville for trial.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

Ham Turner was convicted of carrying concealed a deadly weapon. His punishment was fixed at a fine of $25 and costs, and confinement in the jail at hard labor for ten days. A new trial was refused and an appeal prayed for and granted.

John Culbertson was tried on charge of carrying a deadly weapon concealed, and acquitted.

Thomas Guilloule was tried on two charges of selling liquor to a minor. The jury found him not guilty in both cases.

George Hughes, a colored boy who looked to be about fifteen years old, was convicted of carrying concealed a deadly weapon, and adjudged to pay a fine of $50 and costs, and was sent to the jail for thirty days at hard labor.

The jury in the case of Wm. Fawler charged with suffering unlawful gaming on his premises, was unable to agree on a verdict, and were discharged.

Wages in 1800.

(From McMaster's History of the People of the United States.)

The condition of the wage-class of that day may be well examined; it is full of instances of want and misery. In the cities unskilled workmen were hired by the day, bought their own food and found their own lodgings. But in the country, on the farms, or wherever a hand was employed on some public works, the employer gave the employee a month's wages and a few dollars a month. On the Pennsylvania canals, the diggers ate the coarsest diet, were housed in the rudest sheds, and paid $6 a month from May to November, and $8 a month from November to April. The miners and mortar-mixers, diggers and choppers, who, from 1790 to 1800, labored on the public buildings and cut the streets and avenues of Washington, City, received $70 a year, or, if they wished, $60 for all the work they could perform from March 1st to December 31st. The hours of work were invariably from sunrise to sunset.
